LESSON PLAN

WHEN TEXAS SAW RED – THE COLD WAR EXPERIENCE
Social Studies, Grades 6–8

OBJECTIVE
Through the analysis of primary source archival footage from TAMI’s online exhibit, “When Texas Saw Red,” https://www.whentexassawred.com/ students will demonstrate an understanding of the Cold War period that spanned nearly half a century. Students will explore the politics of the atomic bomb and the policy of containment, propagated paranoia related to the spread of communism, the nuclear arms race and détente, as well as the fall of the Berlin Wall and decline of the USSR. The Cold War period remains relevant today; its social, economic, and political impact on the United States and, more locally on Texas, requires critical examination and reflection.

Teachers will take students on a “guided tour” of “When Texas Saw Red,” where students will analyze various primary sources to better understand the events and themes of the Cold War.

PROCESS

Prior Knowledge
The following lesson assumes students are aware of the post-WWII period and the struggle between the new super powers for world domination.

Students should be familiar with the use of the atomic bomb, the countries that used and possessed it, and why it was such a terrifying and devastating weapon.

Students should be familiar with the Cold War era, noting the differences between communism and democracy, the basic political differences between the U.S. and USSR in the mid-to-late twentieth century, and the fear surrounding nuclear arms escalation worldwide.

Students should be aware of the importance of safety drills and routines at school and in general.

Hook
Assess students’ prior knowledge by asking them what they know about 20th century wars and weapons, such as the atomic bomb in WWII and the Cold War.

Talk about what the “Cold War” era generally with your class; discuss the impact of the U.S. dropping the atomic bomb on Japan to end WWII and the weapon’s impact on the world thereafter.

To highlight key Cold War terms, students will use the provided Cold War Vocabulary Worksheet to define Cold War terms (see Worksheets). Have students reference their textbooks or other approved sources to define terms individually or in a group. Use the provided Cold War Teacher’s Guide to assist students (see Worksheets).

Lesson
Once students have completed their vocabulary lists, ask for volunteers to define a few terms aloud. Check students’ understanding, clarify definitions, and give examples to enrich their understanding. (Suggestion: draw a timeline on the board with key dates and terms. Then call upon students to define Cold War vocabulary.)

Tell your students that they will be visiting an online exhibit today. Take them on a “guided tour” of “When Texas Saw Red” using a variety of visual and audiovisual primary sources to teach them about this era.

Tell them they should be writing down their observations and reflections for a class discussion. Make sure students have paper and a pencil for note taking during the guided tour.

Begin the “When Texas Saw Red” exhibit, https://www.whentexassawred.com/

Describe each section of the exhibit to your class. Show the following films and pause occasionally to ask them to respond to the guided questions below. Make sure students are critically viewing and understanding these films in their reflective writing responses. Encourage students to relate films to their vocabulary lists.

The Atomic Bomb and Containment

Video – Duck and Cover
beginning through 5:09
https://texasarchive.org/2014_04778

This video was part of a government effort to teach civil defense in schools. Discuss with your students why the video was made, what were the main concerns about the atomic bomb that the filmmakers show, and how was it different than other safety threats. What do the filmmakers not talk about?

Crisis! Hysteria!

Video – The Port Arthur Story
beginning through 5:01
https://texasarchive.org/2010_00360
LESSON PLAN

Discuss the differences between communism and democracy. After watching the video, have your students explain what they think is going on at this time in Port Arthur, Texas, and the United States. Discuss why the people in the interviews wanted to label the picketers as ‘communists.’ Explain the Red Scare.

The Nuclear Arms Races Leads to Détente
https://www.whentexassawred.com/the-nuclear-arms-race-leads-to-detente/

Video – The Protected School
https://texasarchive.org/2011_02131

Talk with your students about what it would be like to go to school underground. Discuss why the school was built and why the city of Laredo would have invested so much in building it instead of a conventional school. What does the building of this school say about the build-up of nuclear arms at the time? Were people thinking this was going to be a long-term or short-term struggle?

New Movements and New Fronts

https://texasarchive.org/2015_00193

Talk about the Cold War spreading to Asia and the Middle East. Discuss why Congressman Wilson focuses so much on Russia in this video instead of fighters in the Middle East. Explain the struggle for world dominance and the ‘domino effect.’ Ask students to think about current issues in the Middle East and how they relate to this era.

The Fall of a Wall and an Empire

Video – President Ronald Reagan’s Speech at the Berlin Wall, June 12, 1987

Discuss with your students the history of the city of Berlin in the Cold War (the creation of the wall, the division in the city, the Berlin Airlift and the Marshall Plan). After watching the speech, does Reagan see the Cold War as being over? What does he feel will be the end of the Cold War? Discuss.

Independent Practice

Write a descriptive letter to a friend

Instruct students to write a personal letter to a friend describing facets of the Cold War based upon a variety of primary sources viewed and discussed in class. Make sure they use at least five key Cold War terms from their vocabulary lists in their descriptive letters. Have them think about what it was like to live during this time by describing their life at home and school in the Cold War.

Extended Learning

Ask students to select, research, and address three out of the five questions listed below (responses should be half-page to 1 page in length for each question).

- Who was responsible for starting the Cold War? Support your answers.
- Address the validity of this statement: The Cold War never turned “hot.” Do you agree or disagree with this statement?
- How did the Cold War challenge American values, either at home or abroad? What were some of the consequences of McCarthyism domestically during the mid-to-late twentieth century?
- How did the Cold War contribute to the current unrest in the Middle East, particularly in Iran, Iraq, and Afghanistan?
- Is the Cold War still going on today? Explain and think about current events to support your answer, including recent events in Turkey and Ukraine.
- What is the significance of the recent push to normalize relations between the U.S. and Cuba, and why was the relationship strained for more than fifty years?
